Website Updates/Improvements!

I spent some time last night and today updating some more things on the site. The Front Page got a Recent Forum Post Module and a Random Picture from the Forums Mod too. Added a recent article Module to the left side of the front page as well. Photoshoped up some carp related header graphics and wrote an article on Boilies with embedded google video on it.

So I hope this helps with the usability and I hope ya'll can contribute some HowTo articles or amusing anecdotes for the site too. Something such as " THE VALUE OF HAVING YOUR DUCKS IN A ROW PRIOR TO GOING DUCK HUNTING " would be a good one.

I'll keep on improving the site with anything that I think works well, but content is what it lacks now. So once you log in there is a menu on the left side to submit and article try that out and see what you can think of to write about.

C'mon it's cathartic!:laugh:

EDIT: Also added CarpusMarcus's fishing pics to the Flash Gallery and figured out how to "stickie" important posts to the same spot in the forums.

That would be a good idea too.

I was talking about a photo calendar with the men of the river fishing (with some of the photos we have posted). lol.

Yes, then we could sell them and well we'd make, Nevermind we wouldn't make much:unsure: And as far as my new Avatar goes, Yes that is a carp between my legs, but I am happy to see you nevertheless!;
